The Forbidden Romance

"Whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world is the enemy of God."

James 4:4b

The Church and the World walked far apart,

On the changing shores of time;

The World was singing a giddy song,

And the Church a hymn sublime.

"Come give me your hand," cried the merry World,

But the Church answered

I will not walk with you;

Your way is the way of endless death;

Your words are all untrue."

“Nay, walk with me but a little space,”
Said the World with a kindly air;
“The road I walk is a pleasant road,
And the sun shines always there.
Your path is thorny and rough and rude,
And mine is broad and plain:
My road is paved with flowers and gems,
And yours with tears and pain.
The sky above me is always blue:
No want, no toil, I know;
The sky above you is always dark;
Your lot is a lot of woe.
My path, you see is a broad, fair path,
And my gate is high and wide-
There is room enough for you and me
To travel side by side.”

Half shyly the Church approached the World
Gave him her hand of snow:
The old World grasped it, and walking along
Saying, in accents low-
“Your dress is too simple to please my taste:
I will give you pearls to wear,
Rich velvet and silks for your graceful form,
And diamonds to deck your hair.”
The Church looked down at her plain white robes
And then at the dazzling World,
And blushed as she saw his handsome lip
With a smile contemptuously curled.
“I will change my dress for a costlier one,”
Said the Church with a smile of grace;
Then her pure garments drifted away,
And the World gave, in their place,
Beautiful satins, and shining silks,
And roses and gems and pearls;
And over her forehead her bright hair fell
Crisped in a thousand curls.
