The first step of Susannah Wesley (mother of John and Charles Wesley) was to conquer the child's will early. This is where many parents fail.

She said, "This is the only strong and rational foundation of a religious education, without which, precept and example will be ineffectual. But where this is thoroughly done, then the child is capable of being governed by the reason of its parents till its own understanding come to maturity, and the principles of religion have taken root in the mind."

A sapling is easily bent, but it is impossible to bend an old tree.

SIGNERS OF THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

Tho! Stone

Signer #39: Thomas Stone (1743 - 1787) Maryland. Age at signing: 33

Occupation: Lawyer

Married: Margaret (3 children)

Ouotes & Notes:

Mr. Stone was a professor of religion, and distinguished for sincere and fervent piety. To strangers, he appeared austerity; but among his friends he was affable, cheerful, and familiar. In his disposition he was uncommonly amiable, and well disposed. In person, he was tall, but well proportioned.

"Once you've earned a reputation as an early riser, you can sleep in till noon."

FB Meyer said, "There is no doubt that if every Christian were to begin to live up to the New Testament ideal, avoiding always what Christ would not be, and seeking to be always what He would be, there would be little need for preaching, for the beauty of the Christian character would in itself be sufficiently attractive to win men for Jesus Christ."

Note: FB Meyer was a Baptist minister in England for 60 years. He profoundly influenced DL Moody and T Wilber Chapman.

Strange Viewpoints

Some parents are funny. They refuse to give a child the car keys because they feel he is not mature enough to make the proper decisions for save driving. Yet they refuse to direct his religious life because they say he should arrive at his own conclusions.
