2007 Theme: Humility

August's Verse:

*"And when he humbled himself, the wrath of the LORD
turned from him, that he would not destroy him altogether:
and also in Judah things went well."*

2 Chronicles 12:12

Circus Parade

Bobby was a farm kid who went into town to see the circus. His father gave him a dollar with instructions to spend it wisely. Bobby ran to town, found a roadside spot, and watched amazed as the parade passed before him. As the last clown brought up the end of the parade, Bobby rushed forward, handed the clown his dollar, and raced home to tell everyone about the circus.

But Bobby hadn't seen the circus, he'd only seen the parade!

That's how it is sometimes with church. We go. We feel good about going. We think we've seen it all. But we've only seen the parade. The big show happens when we go home and live it out for the rest of the week.

Church isn't just some place to go, it's something you are - something you are seven days a week. And that is the high calling of our daily work.

Solon

“I have a great need for Christ; I have a great Christ for my need.”

~ C.H. Spurgeon

“If Jesus Christ were to come today, people would not even crucify Him. They would ask Him to dinner, and hear what He had to say, and make fun of it.”

~ Thomas Carlyle (1775-1834)

“Abraham did not know the way, but he knew the Guide.”

~ Lee Roberson

“All growth that is not toward God is growing to decay.”

~ George MacDonald

lacry-ma-tō-ry, n.
[L.L. lacrimatorium,
properly neut. of lacri-
matorius, of or pertaining to tears, from L.
lacrima, a tear.] One
of a class of glass vessels or phials found in sepulchers of the ancients, in which it has been supposed the tears of a deceased person's friends were collected and preserved with the ashes. Also called lacrymal.

Lacrymatoria, from specimens
in British Museum.
